Notorious Gossip

Miss Emily looked into a room in the settlement house, where a small girl was pounding the piano to her heart's content. "You may play on, Mary, if you are sure that your hands are clean."

"Oh, I'm being careful, Miss Emily," was the quick response. "I'm using only the black keys."

"I want to see your beauty editor," said the caller at the sanctum of a popular magazine. "Are you following her advice?"

"I am."

"Got confidence in it?"

"I have."

"Then you don't want to see her."

Assistant (to lady who has handed in a badly spelled telegram): "I can read everything so far, but what is this word?"

Lady: "Never mind that, miss. It's none of your business. They'll know it at the other end."

"I suppose when you have been flying for a year or so it becomes second nature."

"Surest thing you know. Why, I'm getting so that I often feel a craving for worms and bird seed."

"Mr. Editor, the Mayor spoke very feelingly when welcoming us here, and sympathized with us in the hardships we endured while prisoners in G. S. W. A., but I can assure you all those hardships can be considered as a pleasure when comparing them with the magnificent reception that was extended us."

In the dressing room of the train the Scot had been boring everyone with tales of the great deeds he had done.

"Well, now," said an Englishman at last, "suppose you tell us something you can't do, and I'll undertake to do it myself."

"Thank ye," replied the Scot. "I cannot pay me railroad fare."

"Why don't you read this book of world history from 5000 B. C. to 1935 A. D.?"

"Aw, I looked at it, and don't like the way it ends."

"How are your cars selling?"

"We can't make them fast enough."

"Well, at least you're frank."

MARTIAL LAW IN BELGIUM

Grave Incidents Reported

THREAT TO SINK SHIPS

Brussels, June 19.
A virtual state of siege was proclaimed for all Belgium by a decree published in the official Monitor on Friday morning which announced that article 7 of the Martial Law comes into force throughout the country from Friday.

The article in question authorizes the Government to take all measures necessary to maintain order. The Government's decision to take this drastic measure is evidently due to the increasingly revolutionary attitude of the strikers.

Thus a message from Monsieville. In the Borinage region states that a shooting affray between striking workers and gendarmes, in which several people were killed, took place.

In Charleroi the Socialist and the Christian Labour Union proclaimed strike and all shops, factories and banks in that town are closed.

In the Champagne Coal region all mines have ceased operating, while in Ghent the entire textile industry is idle. In the harbour of Ghent, the strikers have threatened to sink all ships which try to pass through the port.

In Antwerp a motor lorry was dynamited by rioting strikers.—Transocean News Service.

EDEN'S SPEECH IN COMMONS

Italian Quarters
Silent

TEXT

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special.
The press and political quarters here are extremely reserved regarding their comment regarding Mr. Eden's speech in the House of Commons.

Although the British Government's unanimous decision in favour of the abolition of sanctions is welcomed, the announcement of Naval Pacts concluded with the various Mediterranean powers and the decision to keep a strong fleet permanently in the Mediterranean is evidently not to the liking of the Italians.

Official quarters, however, refuse to make an announcement before Mr. Eden's speech is known in full text, and declare that only a careful examination of the British Foreign Secretary's speech can show whether further elucidation is required by Italy on any points.

SANCTIONS' DECISION DEBATE IN COMMONS

Opportunity Welcomed

London, June 18. Opening the Commons debate on Foreign Affairs, the Foreign Secretary said the Government welcomed the opportunity of making plain their attitude on the number of problems confronting the League of Nations, upon which the League states together would have to reach decisions before the close of the month.

From the beginning of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute the British Government had taken their full part in collective action. It might be argued collective action should have been more complete. Mr. Eden said, countering the interruptions from opposition but none could deny that the British Government had played their full part. They would continue to do so. "We shall act fully and loyally in line with any action the assembly may decide upon."

PERIOD OF DIFFICULTY

The Government might, if they had cared, Mr. Eden went on, have left it at that, but at a period of difficulty in the League's history that would not in their view nor he believed, in the view of the British people be a very heroic course. They had responsibility to their fellow-members of the League, not only for compliance with collective decisions, but for guidance in reaching them.

The Foreign Secretary rehearsed the initiatives the British Government had taken at the successive crises while the dispute had been before the League and declared it would not be right at this time of perplexity to shrink the duty of giving the lead. "I am quite convinced so far from the lead we are going to give embarrassing others, it will be welcomed in many quarters."

GOT TO BE FACED

Turning to the question what the League should do in the present circumstances, Mr. Eden said the fact had got to be faced that the sanctions imposed had not realised the purpose for which they were applied. Abyssinia was in Italian military occupation and so far as he was aware no Abyssinian Government survived in any part of Abyssinia. It could not be expected that continuation of existing measures of economic pressure would restore the position in Abyssinia. Nothing but military action from outside could possibly do that and so far as he knew, no other Government and certainly no British Government were prepared to take such military action. To maintain existing sanctions without any clearly defined purpose would only result in crumbling of the sanctions front, so that in a short time the League would be confronted with a state of affairs even more derogatory to its authority than that which it faced to-day. In these circumstances "His Majesty's Government after mature consideration and on advice which I, as Foreign Secretary, thought it my duty to give, have come to the conclusion that there is no longer any utility in continuing these measures as a means of pressure upon Italy."

ATTEMPT JUSTIFIED

Though the League had not availed to prevent the successful accomplishment of violation of its Covenant, the Government did not regret, Mr. Eden emphasised, nor did he believe its fellow League members regretted—having made an attempt. For that, they had nothing to apologise for and nothing to retract. Nor was there any question in the British Government's view of judgment passed by the League last Autumn or acts of aggression being either modified or revised.

Before proceeding further to consider the future action of the League the Foreign Secretary made an important declaration on mutual assistance among the Covenant enforcing states. He recalled the reciprocal assurances exchanged last December under Paragraph 3 of article 16 of the Covenant between the Governments of certain Mediterranean powers including His Majesty's Government and said in view of the latter—which view they proposed to state at Geneva as a contribution to confidence—those assurances should not end with raising of sanctions if the Assembly decided to raise sanctions but should continue during the period of uncertainty which must necessarily follow. Mr. Eden added, in light of the experience of recent

BRITAIN'S PART TO THE LEAGUE AND PEACE

London, June 18. Before the House crowded in every part for his statement on the Government's policy at the forthcoming League meetings, the Foreign Secretary announced this afternoon in the House of Commons that while ready to take part in whatever action might be collectively determined, His Majesty's Government had decided for its part that there was no utility in continuation of sanctions against Italy. He added the assurance that the Government would devote itself to restoring the League to its full authority.

In the later stage of his speech, Mr. Eden referred to the efforts of the successive British Governments to bring about a reconciliation between France and Germany, and to the situation created by Germany's repudiation of her Locarno obligations on March 17 last. He said, the British Government in the present circumstances felt justified in looking for an early reply from Herr Hitler's Government to the enquiries recently addressed to it.—British Wireless.

LEAGUE'S FUTURE MEMBERS TO CONSIDER

London, June 18. In the middle part of his speech which was subject to some interruption at times from opposition benches, the Foreign Secretary discussed the future of the League which he said needed to be earnestly and urgently considered by all its members. He must make it plain, he declared, that the Government was determined the league should go on.

The fact that it had tried and failed to arrest aggression was reason not for regretting the attempt, but for seeking so to organise it that it should have a better chance to succeed hereafter and with that object lessons of last few months had got to be analysed.—British Wireless.

SINGAPORE UNIVERSITY GLASGOW MAN'S APPOINTMENT

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14. Mr. Robert Gordon MacGregor, B.A., B.M., B.Ch. (Oxon.), M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., son of Dr. Scott MacGregor, Glasgow, and a lecturer at Birmingham University, has been appointed to the Chair of Physiology in the University of Singapore. He takes up his duties in the autumn.

He was educated at Glasgow Academy, Trinity College, Glenalmond, and subsequently at Oxford University. At Oxford he graduated B.A. with honours in 1924, and in the same year obtained the physiology prize of his college, and an Exhibition in anatomy and physiology at St. George's Hospital, London.

In 1927 he was appointed house physician at the Brompton Chest Hospital, London, and in the following year he became physiological investigator to the Safety in Mines Research Board of the Department of Mines, and research assistant in the Department of Physiology, University of Leeds.

His present lectureship at Birmingham University began in 1929. Mr. MacGregor has travelled extensively in America and the Continent to study the various methods of scientific research. He has made several original and interesting observations in the field of physiology, and these have recently been confirmed by workers in America.

Two years ago he accepted an invitation from the authorities of Moscow University to visit Moscow, and while there he delivered two lectures to the students of physiology.

months, the Government had determined it was necessary that Great Britain should maintain permanently in the Mediterranean defensive position stronger than that which existed before the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia broke out.—British Wireless.

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

THE "QUEEN MARY" A Great Enterprise

When the Queen Mary left Southampton on her maiden voyage across the Atlantic, a great enterprise came at last to fruition. Whether it be regarded as a demonstration of technical skill and craftsmanship, or as an example of what can be accomplished by industrial co-ordination on a truly national scale, or merely as a commercial undertaking, the completion of such a ship is an achievement well worthy to rank with the constructive works of those less mechanised eras, whose remoteness has endowed them with a "romance" often alleged to be lacking in the materialistic world of to-day.

The illustrated descriptions of the liner should remove any lingering fear that modern Britain is content to relinquish, or perhaps has permanently lost, her earlier maritime pre-eminence. Standards of living have changed, but not, apparently, to the detriment of those fundamental qualities which seek advancement and ensure it. Less than a century has elapsed since the Atlantic was first crossed by the agency of steam alone, by the wooden packet steamer Sirius. In that relatively short space the twin sciences of shipbuilding and marine engineering have evolved a vessel of sixfold greater length and approximately a hundredfold greater displacement, designed to complete the round trip between Southampton and New York in two-thirds of the time then taken to make the single crossing from Queens-town.

STRONG COMPETITION

The new ship has some strong competition to overmatch in order to regain the coveted "Blue Riband"—a possibility which the public, technical and non-technical alike, persistently declines to ignore, although both owners and builders have been careful to point out that service speeds are dictated by the conditions of the route alone. She enters the field possessing one distinction enjoyed by none of the rival vessels, in that she is, in all essentials, 100 per cent. a product of the country whose ensign she wears. Each one of the other five, two German, two Italian, and one French, owes some part of her necessary equipment to British firms, but in the construction of the Queen Mary there was no occasion for the builders to go outside the United Kingdom for any important item of machinery, structural materials, or for technical guidance.

OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE

In design and appearance, as in construction, she is an outstanding example of all that is most characteristic of British practice in naval architecture; not least of that national predilection for orthodoxy and distaste for anything savouring of the flamboyant which would probably prevent us, as a nation, from producing spontaneously a design "with the striking originality of the Normandie." However much we may admire its boldness and the skill displayed in the execution, such courageous disregard of convention is rather difficult for the insular mind to assimilate; "unconventional" and "bizarre" are not synonymous terms, but the usual British reaction to marked departures from precedent hardly does justice to the distinction. We may progress, in time, to disguised ventilators and concealed anchor gear, and even to "teardrop" funnels, but the progress must be regular, with none of the intermediate stages omitted, if it is to be recognised as progress and not futurism.

THE DESIGN

The design of the Queen Mary has evolved with exemplary regularity from those of her distinguished predecessors, with due regard to subsequent developments in machinery design and in the production of improved materials. Certain innovations are to be noted on the passenger decks, and especially in the public rooms, by way of concession to the spirit of the times. In the space, and service and general amenities provided for the individual passenger, the designers who have planned her accommodation, and the contractors who have executed it, have attained a standard comparable with that of any other vessel afloat. In pleasing contrast to the overdone character and uncomfortable styles of furnishing and decoration which for many years have been such conspicuous features of big ships the Queen Mary will certainly be a most comfortable boat to travel on, in the minds of many passengers; though many will regret the appropriation of the finest position in the ship to a cocktail bar, no less than the decoration of that apartment with a frieze quite incongruous in a vessel bearing so dignified and revered a name.

Many of these features have been well publicised already, and most students of the general press must be familiar by now with the customary statistics—the miles of carpets, acres of upholstery, thousands of blankets, and millions of rivets; not to mention the inevitable comparison with the height of the Nelson column, and the demonstration of the inadequacy, as a graving dock, of the east side of Trafalgar Square. These attempts to interpret immensity in terms of everyday things show how difficult a task it really is to convey an accurate impression of an undertaking so greatly exceeding the normal units of measurement.

THE RECONSTRUCTION OF WANDSWORTH BRIDGE

A report on the reconstruction of Wandsworth Bridge was presented to the London County Council at their meeting on Tuesday, December 10, and will be discussed next week. This bridge, which was opened in 1873, is of the continuous lattice girder type with brick abutments, and is supported on eight wrought-iron cylinders. It has an 18-ft. carriageway and two 6-ft. footpaths, and the maximum headways for river traffic are 19 ft. 9 in. at the three central arches, and 14 ft. 6 in. at the two others. Since 1891 it has been necessary to limit the loads passing over the bridge to five tons, and since 1927 there has been a speed restriction of 10 m.p.h. Somewhat naturally, therefore, its reconstruction has been repeatedly urged, and is not being undertaken before it was needed. It is proposed that the new bridge shall be of the three-span cantilever type, and shall be constructed of steel with granite-faced piers and abutments. The centre span will have a clear width of 283 ft. between the piers and a headway at the centre of about 21 ft. above high-water level. It will be 60 ft. wide, with a 40-ft. carriageway, and two 10-ft. footpaths, and is to be designed so that it can be widened later, if necessary, to 80 ft. The design has been prepared by the Council's engineer and architect in collaboration and severe simplicity in treatment is to be aimed at. During reconstruction which it is expected will take about three years, a temporary footbridge will be provided. The scheme has been submitted to the Minister of Transport, and has been approved by the Port of London Authority and Royal Fine Art Commission. The estimated gross cost is £503,500 of which it is considered 60 per cent. should be met from the Road Fund. At the same meeting, Sir Cecil Levitt asked the Highways Committee to report on the cross-

BORING FOR OIL IN GREAT BRITAIN

The first attempt to discover oil in Great Britain, since the passing of the Petroleum Act of 1934, was inaugurated on Portsmouth Hill, Portsmouth, on Monday, March 30, by Mrs. Crookshank, mother of Captain H. F. C. Crookshank, M.P., the Secretary for Mines. Mrs. Crookshank has associations with Petersville in the United States, where Colonel Drake drilled his first oil well. The plant, which is being operated by Messrs. The Darcy Exploration Company, a subsidiary of Messrs. The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, is of British manufacture and consists of a derrick 135 ft. high, from which a rotary drill with a loading capacity of 400 tons is operated. The mud is extracted from the bore by three pumps, which, like the drilling machinery, are supplied with steam at a pressure of 250 lb. per square inch from four 14,000-lb. capacity boilers. It is expected that the work will take about two years. Speaking at the inaugural ceremony, Sir John Cadman said that Messrs. The Darcy Exploration Company had been assisted in making their present effort by recent advances in geological methods and drilling technique. They also owed much to the skillful and far-sighted manner in which the Petroleum Act of 1934 and the regulations of 1935 had been conceived and drafted. There was, however, a point beyond which the authorities could not assist them, and they must now go forward into the unknown, where "only the drill can tell." In choosing this particular site they had been guided by a volume of geological evidence. Many miles to the east and west were outcrops of rocks of Wealden and pre-Wealden age, which in certain places were heavily impregnated with petroleum. It was fair to assume that these rocks lay deeply buried below the chalk of the site, and it was hoped that the drill would find these rocks porous and suitably folded, thus forming a reservoir in which petroleum had become trapped in commercial quantities. There was, of course, an element of speculation in all this, but oilfields had been discovered elsewhere on no better evidence, and the effort was well worth making.

CHINA'S RAILWAYS

The Poshan Railway, which is at present owned by private capital, will be purchased by the Shan-tung provincial government at the price of $780,000, according to a decision announced by General Han Fu-chu, the Governor. Preparations have been completed to construct the Tsinan-Liucheng Railway and work will start next month. The line will cost about $8,000,000. Another line is being planned between Liucheng and Changmen with a branch line to Lung-wangmiao and Taokow.

The Peking-Liaoning Railway works at Tangshan are to be improved and extended, according to plans now under way. It has been decided to establish an inspection section there to pass upon all locomotives repaired as well as to increase the facilities for the overhauling of both coaches and locomotives. The manufacture and repair of tools, for which additional equipment will be bought, will be housed in a separate building, soon to be constructed.

The Kiangnan Railway, now privately owned, will be taken over shortly by the Government, it was learned by the "Shunpao." The terms for the transfer of the line to the Ministry of Railways have been agreed upon. It is stated.

river facilities east of Tower Bridge and what steps should be taken to improve them. In so doing he pointed out that between 1914 and 1935 the number of vehicles using Blackwall Tunnel, Rotherhithe Tunnel, and Woolwich Ferry had increased by 500 per cent., nearly 350 per cent., and more than 200 per cent., respectively. The maximum capacity of Woolwich Ferry was now being approached.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist

Subject: Is the Universe, including man, evolved by Atomic Force?

The subject of the lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, June 21 will be: "Is the Universe, including man, evolved by Atomic Force?"

The Golden Text will be: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens." Proverbs 3: 19.

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "While he yet talked to the people, behold, his mother and his brethren stood without, desiring to speak with him."

Then one said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speak with thee.

But he answered and said unto him that told him, who is my mother? and who are my brethren?

And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren!

For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother." (Matt. 46-50).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Jesus acknowledged no ties of the flesh. He said: 'Call no man your father upon the earth; for one is your Father, which is in heaven.' Again he asked: 'Who is my mother, and who are my brethren,' implying that it is they who do the will of his Father. We have no record of his calling any man by the name of father. He recognized Spirit, God, as the only creator, and therefore, as the Father of all.

Mortal thought transmits its own images, and forms its offspring after human illusions. God, Spirit, works spiritually, not materially. Brain or matter never formed a human concept. Vibration is not intelligence; hence it is not a creator. Immortal ideas, pure, perfect, and enduring are transmitted by the divine Mind through divine Science, which corrects error with truth and demands spiritual thoughts, divine concepts, to the end that they may produce harmonious results.

One of our ablest naturalists has said: "We have no right to assume that individuals have grown or been formed under circumstances which made material conditions essential to their maintenance and reproduction, or important to their origin and first introduction."

Why, then, is the naturalist's basis so materialistic, and why are his deductions generally material?" (Page 31, 259 and 553).

Light, cool, quick-drying, startling colours, intriguing styles, perfect fit and comfort of "U.S." Rubber Bathing Costumes, Capes and Shoes will add to your beauty on the beach.

FORGOTTEN FACES

Drama with an emotional wallop as powerful as one of Joe Louis' hard lefts to the jaw is offered in "Forgotten Faces," the new Paramount picture, which closes to-day at the Queen's Theatre.

Herbert Marshall is the star of the picture, and the lovely blonde Gertrude Michael plays opposite him. The story opens with Marshall a devoted husband and father deeply in love with his wife, Miss Michael, and almost worshipping where his baby daughter is concerned.

But his whole world is shattered when he returns home one night to discover his wife in another man's arms. In an emotional heat he kills the intruder and then after arranging for the adoption of his daughter, he gives himself up. A stern court sentences him to prison.

Seventeen years later, he learns that his daughter now grown to lovely womanhood, is about to marry and that her mother threatens to tell her fiancé who she really is unless she is paid to be silent. Marshall succeeds in securing a parole and establishes himself as butler in his daughter's household. On the day the mother approaches for her money she is confronted by her husband and a fiery, dramatic climax puts the finishing touches to two explosive and tragic careers.

"Forgotten Faces" offers one of these rare dramatic pieces of entertainment whose suspense is truly gripping. The acting is perfect and in addition to the two leads, special credit is due to Jane Rhodes, as the grown up daughter, Robert Cummings, as her fiancé, and James Burke as Marshall's police-sergeant pal.

"Riff Raff"

THE IRISH IN US

Warner Bros. latest comedy drama "The Irish In Us" which presents James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh and Olivia de Havilland at the head of an unusually popular supporting cast, has been booked as the feature production of the Star Theatre to-day.

The title, it is said, is based on traditional characteristics of the Irish—to alternate between laughter and tears, to jump from comedy to intense drama, to fight with those they love and love those with whom they fight.

The story itself is the story of most families—internal battles, but a common front against an outside attack.

Mary Gordon, a 55 year old Irish widow whose leap from a job as a restaurant cook to near stardom in Hollywood is in itself a romance, portrays the part of an Irish mother whose three sons are Pat O'Brien, a cop; Frank McHugh, a fireman, and James Cagney, who refuses to take a steady job, but devotes himself to managing, broken down prize fighters.

Ma's catering to the one non-producer of her brood keeps the family in constant turmoil, but the tempest breaks in earnest when Cagney takes O'Brien's girl, Miss de Havilland, away from him.

The sorrows and joys, the anxieties and triumphs of this little family of New York Irish folk is said to have made one of the most laughable and at the same time most touching screen dramas of the year.

In the cast are Allen Jenkins, Harvey Parry, J. Farrell MacDonald and Thomas Jackson in addition to a number of noted prize fighters and many college athletes.

THE MOON'S OUR HOME

Margaret Sullivan, noted screen star, is cast, appropriately enough, in the role of a screen star in Walter Wanger's production "The Moon's Our Home." Produced for Paramount, the picture opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre, with Henry Fonda, Henrietta Crosman, Charles Butterworth and Beulah Bondi featured in important roles.

In "The Moon's Our Home," Margaret Sullivan portrays a tempestuous little spitfire controllable only by a person equally fiery, her grandmother. As a sky-rocketing motion picture star, Margaret hears of, and determines to hate, a man she calls a "globe trotter" who would be lost without his hot water bottle. Henry Fonda, a world-famous author-explorer, has heard of her and has learned to despise the sound of her name, referring to her as "the phoney blonde with a face that resembles French Pastry."

They meet, fall desperately in love without knowing their real identities, marry, separate, and are brought together again in this scrappy adventuresome and wildly romantic comedy.

EMPIRE FILM LIBRARY

1,000 Reels

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

Five new films presented by the Union Government of South Africa have completed the first 1,000 in the Empire Film Library at the Imperial Institute, South Kensington, from which the reels circulate among educational, technical, trade, and social organisations throughout the United Kingdom.

The library was opened by the Duke of Gloucester in June last year with a legacy of about 850 films from the Empire Marketing Board. Since then scarcely a week has elapsed without some new additions, silent or "talkie," being made to the catalogue of reels describing the domestic and industrial life, the scenery and the fauna of overseas Empire countries or the industries of Britain.

There has been a corresponding growth in the number of borrowers, and for the more popular films there is a waiting list. Institutional borrowers at the moment number over 2,500.

In 1934, before the formation of the library, there were about 4,500 borrowings. Last year the number rose to 17,500, and it is estimated that about 3,500,000 people have seen them. Among the latest applications is one to show the films by daylight from a religious society's van that will traverse rural areas of England and Wales.

Teachers are divided in opinion as to the merits of the silent and the sound film for instructional purposes. The silent film, it is argued, allows the teacher to make the points he or she desires to emphasise in supplementing classroom instruction.

"There is no division of opinion among users, however, regarding the value of the visual instruction imparted by means of the film," the library authorities point out. "One result is a more intimate knowledge of conditions overseas and a greater Empire consciousness in the rising generation which will give many of them an irresistible urge to see the Dominions or colonies when the channels of emigration are reopened by overseas Governments."

THE PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND

Gaunt, bearded and tattered, a man with burning eyes and tortured visage rose from the tumultuous past to the screen of the King's and Alhambra Theatres, where "The Prisoner of Shark Island" opening to-day, rose to confound his judges and to bare the long concealed and harrowing story of America's most tragic martyr Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd!

So stark, so vivid, so overwhelmingly real do the action on the screen seem that members of the audience, forgetting that they were watching actors in a written drama, were swept along in its waves of emotion, shared its terror, almost shouted their indignation at this story of man's inhumanity to man.

The "Prisoner of Shark Island" tells a story of the stormy era following the Civil War. After Lincoln was assassinated his murderer fled to Maryland where he prevailed upon a physician to set his broken leg. That physician was Dr. Samuel Mudd, played by Warner Baxter, and to the frenzied mob he became an accomplice in the murder of their idol.

The picture depicts the trial at which Mudd, held with the accomplices, fights futilely against the rising tide of mob hatred, the tense hours when he waits to learn of his fate while others deemed guilty are hanged within his sight, and finally his dreary journey to the Dry Tortugas prison under life sentence.

On the island the real drama begins its course. The gentle, unworldly man fights against the degradation and spiritual starvation, against the bestiality of the labour he is forced to do. Desperation drives him to attempt an escape with the aid of a negro guard. In what is probably the most powerful sequence of the picture, he swims a shark-filled moat, escape to a boat where his wife awaits him only to be recaptured by the pursuing guards.

When fever strikes and prostrates the island, Mudd is given manhood. He takes up the fight against the epidemic, drives the prison guards to aid him, forces

SCOTTISH NEWS

FROM FAR AND NEAR

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

The position of the supporters of the Scottish Orchestra in Edinburgh was every clearly stated by Mr John Cameron, chairman of directors of the Concert Society, at a meeting of guarantors last night, and it is quite obviously a serious one. Edinburgh's guarantee fund has been gradually decreasing, despite all the efforts of the Concert Society to keep it up, and the directors, feeling they cannot go on indefinitely asking for such substantial calls as that of the past season (12s 6d in the £1), have made two alternative proposals to the Glasgow Choral and Orchestra Union—a substantially lower hiring fee for the orchestra, or a pooling of the Glasgow and Edinburgh guarantee funds.

A CASE FOR COMPROMISE

The Edinburgh proposals will doubtless receive careful consideration, and all lovers of the Scottish Orchestra must hope that wise counsels will bring a solution of the problem. If the proposed pool should not meet with approval the question of the hiring fee is obviously one that lends itself to compromise. Last season Edinburgh paid £3024. Against that, of course, there are transport expenses of £500 or £600. Still, Glasgow would find great difficulty in getting from any other source such a substantial sum as revenue, or even the lesser sum which Edinburgh has presumably offered.

SCOTTISH AIR SERVICES

Although investigations into an extension of the London-Glasgow railway air route to Inverness, by way of Perth, are still proceeding, I learn that this new Scottish service is likely to be in operation in the summer. Consideration is also being given to the possibility of continuing the route to Thurso, the most northerly railway terminus, and beyond to the Orkney Islands, but such an extension will not figure in this year's programme. When inaugurated the Glasgow Perth-Inverness service will be the 63rd under railway auspices. Under the summer programme of railway air services, introduced this week, over 1,000,000 miles will be covered on the various routes.

THE CLAN MACDONALD

In "At Home and Abroad," published to-day, a volume of essays by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the following conversation between the Lord President of the Council and an old Scottish peasant woman in Nova Scotia is recounted:

Mr. MacDonald.—What would your tartan be?

Old Peasant Woman.—The Mac-Lean.

Mr. MacDonald.—Mine is the MacDonald.

Old Peasant Woman.—Aye.... the MacDonalds were a masterful lot... a wild, self-willed, masterful lot.

After this conversation she bade farewell in Gaelic. "I did not require to know the words," Mr. MacDonald writes. "Deep spoke to deep."

A MATTER OF APPROPRIATION

There is a marked resemblance between Mr. MacDonald's literary and oratorical style, as the following sentence indicates:

"I have a prejudice as a matter of appropriateness in favour of an expectation that there will be a continuing interest in what the world may be when it was finished with me, and it is therefore an imperative request of my being that I should make provision for its requirements before my eyes close."

CALEDONIAN HALL

Facts are in the news this week. Many who, spending the greater part of the year in Scotland will be in London for the Caledonian Ball at Grosvenor House on Friday.

This time the Duchess of Atholl will lead the processional march introducing the set reels—always the first item on the programme.

Lord James Stewart Murray, said to be the best reel dancer, will take part in the Atholl Highlanders' sixteensome reels.

timorous ship captains to land supplies by threatening to fire on them.

The close of the picture, which follows the events of actual story, shows Baxter pardoned by the president, and returned to his loving wife and the freedom of the outside world.

Gloria Stuart plays the leading role opposite Baxter in the picture. Nunnally Johnson, Hollywood's foremost scenarist, prepared the screen play from the biography of Dr. Mudd.

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

It is gratifying to find that Mr. Richard De Rochement takes a realistic view of the place which Scotland shall occupy in future issues of his "documentary" plus "interest" film, "The March of Time."

Too often in the past producers in search of a Scottish setting or subject for their films have seen the country "in terms of kilts and bagpipes," forgetting, if they ever knew, that the vital Scotland is to be found elsewhere. Mr. De Rochement will have the advice of Mr. John Grierson, whose film "Drifters" was a memorable picture of one aspect of Scottish life and work.

MISADVENTURE VERDICT

Mason's Fall From Scaffolding

DEATH INQUEST

An inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the death of Wong Pun, aged 44, a mason who met his death on May 23 by a fall from the scaffolding erected at Lyemun Barracks, was heard yesterday at the Central Court with Mr. S. F. Balfour acting as Coroner. The plank upon which the deceased was standing, broke and precipitated him to the ground 25 feet below.

The jury empanelled were Messrs. R. H. McGregor (foreman), Chan Nai-wing and Chau Sau-lun.

Dr. G. H. Thomas giving evidence said that the deceased was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital on the morning of May 23 suffering from a scalp wound and abrasions on the limbs. He was paralysed and insensitive from the breast downwards. He breathed with great difficulty and died the next morning.

A post-mortem showed a fractured dislocation of the second cervical vertebra.

Pun Yun, coolie foreman, employed by the Hop Cheong Contractors stated that the scaffolding was erected on April 6 and was about 25 feet high. Planks were secured to the top for the workmen to stand on and these were tied with bamboo binders or strips, and were supported every six inches by horizontal poles. After the accident some of these binders were broken though before the accident they were examined and found in good condition.

Li Lin, a married woman aged 30, working as an earth cooler who was also involved in the accident next gave evidence and said that Wong Pun was on the platform mixing some cement. There was another woman there. After taking up some stones the platform broke and they all fell to the ground. Neither witness nor the other woman were hurt.

Wong Kau, an earth cooler working on the house under construction stated that he saw the platform break and went down and picked up Wong Pun and took him to the Police Station.

Sergt. Danbrowsky stated that he was on duty when Wong Pun was brought into the station. Witness said that though the plank was in good condition the bamboo binders were rather brittle and dry due to the weather.

The jury returned a verdict of misadventure.

OPIUM ADDICT CONVICTED

Sequel To Theft
From Sister

Appearing on remand from Thursday, on the charge of the larceny of a curio and nine opium pipe tops from his sister, Lu Sang was yesterday fined $60 or 6 weeks and was further bound over in $100, by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court.

It will be recalled that the defendant was an opium addict and the case was remanded for the police to ascertain how long it would require to free the defendant from his habit.

Yesterday Inspector A. E. Carey said that Dr. Shaw had said that the cure depended on the physical condition of the patient, and also on the length of time to which he had been an addict. An average case would require two weeks before the patient could do without the drug.

EXTRADITION CASE ADJOURNED

The hearing of the extradition case wherein four men are charged with conspiring to murder Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and Mr. Wang Ching-wel, was adjourned again yesterday due to an important witness for the defence being unable to make an appearance.

The case is being heard before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court. Mr. D. Strellett is for the prosecution, Mr. Peter H. Sin appears for the four alleged fugitives, Yu Lay-tut, Chiu Sad-ping, Wu Tai-hoi and Cheung Chi-hon.

SMALL BOY AS WITNESS

Kidnapping Charge
Allegations

ACCUSED SENT FOR TRIAL

Evidence by a small boy, aged 10 years was heard yesterday at the Kowloon Magistracy where committal proceedings were commenced against an earth cooler, charged with kidnapping the son of a villager of the Au Piu Lung Village.

The lad, Loi Li, told Mr. E. Hims-worth that he saw Yeung Sik-ping (the kidnapped boy) in the company of a man about 11 a.m. on May 4. They were walking down the road in the direction of Kowloon City, hand in hand.

When asked who the man was, Loi unhesitatingly pointed at the accused in the prisoner's box, and said "he is the man." Witness said he knew the accused as "he came to the village for his food."

Yeung Shek, father of the kidnapped boy, said that he had four sons, aged 12, 10, 7 and 3. On May 4, he left his un-numbered hut at 4 a.m. for work as was his usual practice. When he returned in the evening his wife said that "Ah Ping" was missing. The next day Loi Li reported that he had seen "Ah Ping" in the company of the accused.

Witness knew Lau Nam (accused) as the latter had boarded with witness's mother-in-law.

Detective-Inspector A. H. Elston (prosecuting): Is the boy still missing?—Yes.

Witness said Lau was arrested in Kowloon City on May 29 when he (witness) obtained the help of the police. He had reported his son as missing on the same day the lad failed to return.

After further evidence, accused was committed to stand his trial at the July Sessions.

AGED COUPLE'S BAD LUCK

USED AS DUPE

The aged people, an old man of 83 years and an old woman of 73, husband and wife, were led into the dock at the Central Court yesterday before Mr. S. F. Balfour charged with the illegal possession of four jars of wine containing twenty gallons. The duty of this wine amounting to $20.

R. O. Grimmit said that the jars were capped with rubber so that they could be dumped overboard at one of the many dumping grounds in the Colony waters. The old people were dupes of some other person who had offered them a small sum to take the wine. They were genuine water folk having lived on the water for about 60 years, coming ashore only for the necessity of buying food.

Both defendants were bound over in bonds of $300. Their sampan, described as an aged and dilapidated vehicle, was ordered to be confiscated.

DEATH OF STREET COOLIE

Coroner's Jury Verdict

The enquiry, conducted by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy to probe the circumstances of the death of Wong Chun, 33, street coolie who died from head injuries following a fight in the early hours of the morning of May 22, was concluded yesterday.

The jury comprising Messrs. Wallace Harper (foreman) E. L. Shanks, and Ching Shek Wing returned the following verdict:

"We are unanimous that the deceased Wong Chun, died as a result of a blow from a bamboo pole accidentally delivered during the course of a fight."

It was explained at a previous hearing that Wong Chun (deceased) and a fellow worker, Mak Ying, alias "Fei Chai" (Fat Boy) Ying had a quarrel over the transportation of fish from the Old Taumat Ferry Wharf to the Yau-mat Market. Wong Chun struck at Ying who partially dodged the blow. Ying retaliated and hit Wong over the head, although the latter made an effort to avoid the bamboo. The deceased was rushed to the Kowloon Hospital, where later in the evening he succumbed to his injuries.

OPIUM FOUND IN CABIN

Ship Compradore
"Not Guilty"

Yun So, aged 36, compradore of the s.s. Haidis was charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday with the possession of 420 taels of prepared opium in his cabin on June 6.

Mr. F. E. Nash appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty. R. O. Grimmit stating the case for the prosecution said that at 6 a.m. on June 6, R. O. Ahern had gone to the s.s. Haidis acting on information. They proceeded to the defendant's cabin and found it locked. The door was broken open and inside under an unused bunk were found seven tins containing opium. The cabin was watched and nobody allowed to leave the ship. The defendant came on board about 7.30 a.m. and went straight to the cabin, took out a bunch of keys from his pocket and tried to open the door. When he found that the lock had been forced he became rather excited and turned to the servants.

Defendant was accused by R. O. Ahern and he then admitted the possession of all the things in the cabin. Inside the cabin defendant denied the possession of the seven tins and said that a man had put them there the previous afternoon. This man defendant said lived at No. 468, Des Voeux Road West. Defendant was taken to the address but no man of that name lived there.

The evidence of R. O. Ahern and Fung Ho, C.R.O.92 was then taken which corroborated the case for the prosecution. Defendant in the box said that he lived at No. 161, Jaffe Road, Wanchai. He had been eleven years with the shipping company. There were two keys to the lock to his door, one which was kept by himself and the other by a fold. When he was accused of having the opium he then remembered that on the previous day, June 5, two men had come to his cabin and had awakened him and asked when the ship was leaving. One of these men was named Chan, and lived at No. 468, Des Voeux Road West.

Defendant said that he did not know that there was opium in the cabin, but believed that it had been left there by Chan. Defendant also stated that the cabin was not his own but rather an office to which any person had access whenever desired. Defendant was discharged.

OBSTRUCTION CHARGE

Summoned for causing an obstruction in Lower Albert Road, Mr. L. B. Holmes, driver of private car No. 227, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday and was discharged.

Mr. Holmes said that he left the car there because he had had a puncture. He thought that the part where his car was, was a recognised parking space. There was a part of the road cut off and marked "No parking" but he thought that that was to leave a footpath free.

ANOTHER BURGLAR CAUGHT

Cheung San, 30, unemployed was charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday with burglary with intent at the dwelling of Chua Hang Ngan.

Det. Sergt. Pilkington stated that the cashier was sleeping in the cockpit and was awakened by the noise of some body chopping downstairs. He was previously employed in the house as a cook.

He called out and the second complainant who was sleeping on the stairs, tackled the defendant. In the struggle the defendant drew a knife. He was finally overpowered and the other articles were then found.

The case was remanded for 24 hours.

R. O. Grimmit stated that the defendant were fishermen. Their boats were searched and the opium was found in a tin attached to a net with dropping gear. The prosecution was not asking for the confiscation of their boat as the wife of the first defendant was an old woman who was a cripple. The boat was asked to be left to her.

Mr. Balfour fined the first defendant $2,000 or six months and the second defendant was bound over. In response to the plea from R. O. Grimmit for leniency, the boat was left to the old woman.

UNIQUE WEDDING GOWN

Is Worn By Miss Helen Wylie

MARRIED YESTERDAY

Two well known "Hong Kong" Scottish families were joined by marriage yesterday when at the Kowloon Union Church, Miss Helen Walker Wylie of the "South China Morning Post" became the bride of Mr. James Herbert Swan Duncan, of the Jardine Engineering Corporation, Ltd.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. B. Wylie, General Manager of the South China Morning Post Ltd., and Mrs. Wylie, and the groom is the son of Mr. George Duncan, M.B.E. of Kowloon Docks, and Mrs. Duncan.

The bridal couple are well known locally and their popularity was indicated by the big crowd which thronged the church, where Rev. J. D. MacLean performed the ceremony with Mrs. Frank Short at the organ.

Given away by her father, the bride was clad in a handsome wedding gown of white lace, featuring a flower-petal collar, stitched to stand up, full sleeves shirred in elegant fashion and a shirred Empire waistline. The wedding veil, which was of silk-embroidered tulle and had been sent from Edinburgh for the wedding, was held in position by an unusual white lace shirred bandeau.

UNUSUAL POSY
The bride's posy was also most unusual, being of orange blossom and white heather, trimmed with fluted lace and tied with Gunn tartan ribbon.

For bridesmaid, Miss Wylie had Miss Isobel Holland who was in an ankle length pink lace and ne. dress, with a stiffened pink lace hat. She carried a sheaf of pink and white gladioli.

Miss Peggy Duncan, niece of the groom, was flower girl in a short frilly pink net dress. She also had a posy of pink and white gladioli.

Mrs. Wylie chose a grey lace gown and coat, with a cherry red hat. All the bridal party's dresses were by Madame d'Oury.

Mr. Andrew Duncan, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, many friends of the couple gathered in the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel, where Mr. Alfred Hicks, Editor of the "Hong Kong Telegraph" proposed the health of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan later left for the honeymoon at Repulse Bay. The bride's going away dress was navy and white; cut in sailor style, with a coat, navy and white straw hat and white accessories.

LIVED THROUGH WARS

KILLED BY GERM

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.
One of the oldest V.C.s, and a member of that force which in forced marches tried to reach General Gordon at Khartoum before he was killed, Sir Percival Marling, V.C., died at his home in Stroud (Gloucestershire), yesterday, aged seventy-five.

He had been suffering from an illness which is believed to have been due to a germ which attacked him during a tour in South America.

Sir Percival Marling won the V.C. fifty-two years ago at the Battle of Tami in the Siam Expedition.

He lifted a private soldier on his horse, but the man fell off. Sir Percival (then Lieutenant Marling) dismounted, put the man in the saddle and held him there. Sir Percival's gallant action was performed in the face of the advancing enemy.

Sir Percival was the man who led to Queen Victoria's order to officers to see that their horses, when on royal duty, did not foam at the mouth!

Foam from the mouth of Sir Percival's horse had blown on to the veil of the old Queen.

"She gave me a look," Sir Percival said, "which made me wish I had never been born." The order followed next day.

Admiral Sir Cecil Fiennes Thrusby, who also died yesterday at his home at Dorrington (Shrewsbury), was also seventy-five.

SCOTS HEAR OF THE CORONATION DATE

BRILLIANT LITTLE CEREMONY IN EDINBURGH

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.
Proclamation of the King's coronation date was made from the Mercat Cross of Edinburgh yesterday by the Lord Lyon King-of-Arms. It was a brilliant little ceremony, and the solemn phraseology with its fanfares and military sounds was broadcast to Scottish listeners in their homes.

Sir Francis J. Grant, the Lord Lyon, marched to the Cross within the ranks of a guard of honour of the 2nd Battalion the Black Watch. He carried the scroll of the proclamation, and was accompanied by Lieut.-Colonel J. W. Balfour Paul, Falkland Pursuivant; Major H. A. B. Lawson, Unicorn Pursuivant; and Mr. D. West Kerr, Depute Sheriff Clerk.

The three officers of the Lyon Court wore their colourful quartered tobadars and black velvet caps.

At the head of the guard of honour six State trumpeters marched in scarlet coats and cocked hats.

The proclamation was the same as that made in London last week, and it took Sir Francis about 10 minutes to read. There were no amplifiers, and the eagerly waiting swirling up High Street carried his voice away among the turrets of St. Giles, so that very many people heard only snatches of the King's announcements.

When it was finished the trumpeters repeated the fanfare with which they had introduced the Lord Lyon. The guard sprang to attention and saluted. The National Anthem was played by the Black Watch Band.

The little procession then marched off to the Sheriff Court House.

The proclamation was also read with the ceremony at Berwick yesterday.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon K.C. has been briefed to appear for Randall. The prosecution will be in the hands of the Assistant Attorney General (Mr. E. H. Williams).

DOMINIONS AND DEFENCE

Soon after the end of the Great War Lord Fisher said that the centre of naval gravity had shifted to the East, and plans were sketched for an Imperial system of defence whose heart was to be at Singapore, with supports in South Africa, Australia, and Ceylon. Europe had peace then and would, it seemed, live happily ever after. Germany had lost her fleet and was otherwise disarmed; her lot was to be a permanent one of peace. Most of the European countries were "the Allies," and the League confirmed the future. Certainly this talk of naval gravity was not encouraging; it implied competition such as there had been in Europe before 1914. But the talk faded in the strong light of the Washington treaties of 1922. They not only limited the strength of the three great naval powers; they included pledges that there would be no further fortification of bases in the Pacific and they brought nine Powers into self-denying covenants intended to "stabilise conditions in the Far East." For nine years there was stability. That age came to an end in September, 1931, when Japan began her inroads on China, burrowing into her like a parasite attacking the body of some huge but helpless animal. Then "such security as there had been in Europe began to crumble. The sense of instability which Japan had spread among all the countries that are interested in the Pacific and the Indian Ocean was sharpened by the knowledge that Europe, and especially Britain, was now unable to intervene effectively in the Far East. The establishment of Italy in Africa after a successful defiance of the League completed what the rearmament of Germany had begun. The British Dominions, therefore, are becoming more and more concerned about their own defence.

In the Pacific itself it is not merely that Japan persistently attacks China, challenging her more and more insolently to choose between surrender and war. Japan has also denounced the Washington treaties. She asserts with Britain and the United States a naval equality which no one would resent but for the universal fear of her Asiatic policy. Repudiating the political agreement made by the nine interested Powers she indicates plainly, as the "Round Table" points out, that the destinies of East Asia are her business and not theirs. She has been on the verge of a war with Soviet Russia which is now only more remote because Soviet Russia is at last too strong to be attacked. Thus the "countries round the Pacific and the Indian Ocean wonder what is to be the next stage, what is to be the effect not on their territory but on their trade, their communications, if they eventually should come. They wonder the more because of the non-committal attitude of the United States. The American Government has always stood firmly for the Open Door in China; it created the Washington treaties of 1922. But those have gone, and it remains in isolation; it is about to withdraw from the Philippines, and an American correspondent has recently reported that if Japan pressed her aggression to the extreme the American Government might merely withdraw altogether from the East. But, after all, the British Dominions have not depended on the United States for their defence, though they—and especially General Smuts—have regarded her as powerfully supporting their view of world affairs. They have looked with hope towards the League and with confidence towards the British Navy.

MR. HU'S FUNERAL

Canton, June 19.
It is reported that the State funeral of the late Mr. Hu Han-min will be held on July 13.—Reuter.

Soviet Russia and the aid, informal but decisive, of the United States) it would have opened at least the possibility that the League (again aided by the United States) might affect the course of events in the East. Of that there is now no sign. On the other hand, the British fleet is tied indefinitely to European waters. We are at odds with Italy. The continuance or increase of sanctions against her means worse tension; while a complete victory for Mussolini means in the long run a greater danger to private British interests in the Mediterranean and the East. A section of opinion in the British Cabinet, together with its advisers, desires a settlement with Mussolini and the bringing back of the British fleet from the Mediterranean. If it were done the anxieties of the British Dominions would not be less. Those who are pressing this view are only anxious to have the fleet out of the Mediterranean in order that they may have it in the North Sea, across which they are watching narrowly the policy of Germany and the growth of her new fleet. In the meantime Italy, to an unknown degree, threatens the sea route to the East and the eastern air route to the Cape, and may yet train the "black army" which is the nightmare of South Africans. Thus, for the Dominions, the League offers no shelter if Mussolini wins; the British fleet is immobilised in Europe; the United States, building a great fleet, observes the scene; and the Dominions wonder whether Japan (and Italy) will yet take the wings which the Chinese proverb says should not be given to tigers. Hence a lively discussion in Australia about submarines and aeroplanes, the weapons of the weak; hence the discussion in South Africa of naval expansion at Capetown, of an air route by the west coast, and, most of all, of a larger force of aeroplanes. Unequalled in mobility, the aeroplane is the readiest means by which, if the worst happened, the different parts of the British Commonwealth could come to each other's aid.

Winchester Castle Stranding

London, June 19.
The Court of Inquiry into the stranding of the vessel was due to failure of the Master to navigate the vessel in a proper and seamanlike manner in that he failed to use the means at his command to ascertain accurately the position of the vessel.

THE CORONATION PROCLAIMED

LONDON PAGEANTRY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 19.
With all the pageantry of hereditary tradition, the date of King Edward's Coronation—May 12, 1937—was proclaimed by the Officers of Arms at four places in London yesterday.

The first was St. James's Palace, where Garret King of Arms, Sir Gerald Wollaston, read the proclamation.

It was a brilliant picture, in the sunshine. Beside Sir Gerald Wollaston stood the Duke of Norfolk, the Earl Marshal, in scarlet uniform and cocked hat, carrying his gold baton, and the Marquis of Salisbury, High Steward of Westminster, in Privy Counsellor's uniform, with the ribbon of the Garter.

On either side of them were the two Sergeants at Arms, with their maces, the three Pursuivants, Bluenant, porcupine, and Rouge Dragon, York, Windsor, Richmond, Chester, Somerset and Lancaster Herald, and the two other Kings of Arms, Clarenceux and Norroy.

At the end of the ceremony the Herald went in procession, headed by an escort of the Blues, to Charing Cross. Here the Proclamation was read again, and it was also read at Temple Bar and the Royal Exchange.

DUCHESS BACK IN THE NORTH

DELIGHTED WITH UNEXPECTED HOLIDAY AT GLAMIS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.
The Duchess of York, accompanied by the Duke, is spending the week-end amongst her kinsfolk at Glamis. Her Royal Highness seemed delighted to be back to her native countryside.

As she shook hands with the officials on the platform the Duchess expressed her pleasure when she said: "It is an unexpected holiday, and I am looking forward to enjoying it, although I have been informed it is very cold here just now."

Her Royal Highness was dressed entirely in black, which was relieved only by a most becoming touch of white organdie at the neck. Her hat was of cre straw in the fashionable Breton style, and on her shoulders was a beautiful silver fox fur.

The Duke looked fit, and well. He wore a black suit, with a very dark grey overcoat and bowler hat.

SMALL STAFF WITH THEM

The Duchess's brother, the Hon. David Bowes-Lyon, accompanied them.

The only staff with them was a lady's maid and his Highness's personal servant.

A large number of people from the surrounding district had gathered near the station, and from a vantage point on the road bridge they secured a full view of the royal visitors as they walked up the platform surrounded by a battery of cameramen.

The Masonic Lodge of Glamis No. 99 will be taxed to its utmost to-morrow, when the Duke is to be affiliated as a member of the lodge.

ANTI-SMUGGLING CAMPAIGN
TRADE ASSOCIATIONS TAKE ACTION

"BUY NO SMUGGLED GOODS"

Shanghai, June 19.

A joint statement was issued by forty-two trade associations in Shanghai urging the strengthening of the power of the various trade associations for the prevention of smuggling.

The statement declared that definite actions must be taken by these trade associations to stop their members from having anything to do with the smuggled goods. By so doing, no smuggled goods can be transported and sold in the Chinese market. Together with the anti-smuggling campaign of "buy no smuggled goods," this action on the part of the trade associations will deal a heavy blow to the practice of smuggling.

In an interview with the press at Nanking, Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Finance, declared that the success of the present anti-smuggling campaign largely depended on the patriotism of the people. "If the Chinese people refused to buy or handle illicit goods, the clandestine trade would be automatically brought to a halt."

In a telegram to the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce and various trade associations, the Ministry of Finance praised the actions of the businessmen in organising themselves in the anti-smuggling campaign. The Ministry encouraged the Chinese trade associations to strengthen their organisations. It is expected that trade associations in other parts of the country will take similar actions in joining the anti-smuggling campaign.—Union News.

TIN AND RUBBER CONTROL

Schemes Prove Successful

London, June 18.

Referring to tin and rubber control when speaking at the Colonial Service dinner here to-night, Mr. W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore declared that in both cases "I hold the system of control has proved successful, and has achieved the main objects for which the schemes were framed."

They had worked, he said, on the only possible basis, one of co-operation between all important international producers. "As far as I am concerned I will use every effort to maintain the schemes," said Mr. Ormsby-Gore. With reference to Imperial defence, the Minister said the British plan included internal and local defence of every territory of the Crown, and in view of the unsettled conditions in the world every colonial government and population must play its part to the utmost of its capacity and in the interests of the whole Empire.—Reuter.

OPIUM SMOKING IN FAR EAST

Suppression Campaign To Be Continued

Geneva, June 18.

The conference of the International Labour Office has decided to press on the campaign for the prevention of opium smoking amongst workers of the Far East.

M. Joughaux, the French workers' delegate, proposed a resolution, which was passed unanimously, urging the abolition of all opium monopolies in the Far East.

He added that certain powers, which might be described as "expanding powers" in the Far East, should be invited to see that their expansion was not dishonoured by the fact that nationals of theirs, enjoying extra-territorial rights, were in a position to sell opium, to Chinese workers.

Mr. Li Ping-heng, the Chinese delegate, revealed the disastrous effect on China of widespread opium smoking amongst workers, which had reduced the workers' productive capacity by an average of fifty per cent.

The Chinese Government, he said, would be greatly helped in its campaign against the evils of opium by the adoption of the resolution by the conference.—Reuter.

trumpeters. A guard of honour was supplied by the 2nd Battalion Black Watch. The proclamation was the same as that read in England. The ceremony, which lasted for little over a quarter of an hour, ended with a fanfare of trumpets and the playing of the National Anthem by the Black Watch military band.

"GIRL PAT" CAUGHT BY M.V. POMEROON

THRILLING CHASE AT DAWN

Georgetown, June 19.

The Girl Pat, the Grimsby trawler which set out on an adventurous treasure hunt without the permission of the owners, is being towed to port by the Government motor vessel Pomeroon after a thrilling chase in which the fugitive displayed amazing seamanship.

As the result of a midnight conference of the authorities, the Pomeroon put out at dawn with a party of nine policemen commanded by Captain, Murtland, acting Deputy Inspector General. Her instructions were to seize the suspect. No journalists were allowed on board.

As the Pomeroon approached the Girl Pat with her diesel engine working and sails up, she started to run away from the Pomeroon, hotly pursued in a glassy sea. Spectators from the shore now saw that the Girl Pat was out-maneuvring the Pomeroon and gaining ground until seven miles to the west of Girl Pat's anchorage.

The Pomeroon is faster, but as she comes up the Girl Pat makes complete circles and heads to the west, forcing the Pomeroon to make wider circles and lose ground in order to recover the chasing position.

A ding-dong race continued for eighty minutes, but at last the Pomeroon got close up in a vantage position slightly astern on port quarter. What happened next cannot be seen from the beach, but it is perceived that the Pomeroon is towing the Girl Pat to Georgetown where she is expected shortly.—Reuter.

WISER OF TWO COURSES

Premier Defends Government

STEP CONDUCTIVE TO PEACE

London, June 19. Rising amidst Government cheers to participate in the Foreign Affairs debate, the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin today declared that when the League of Nations met in the autumn it must consider seriously the whole question of collective security, which, in the view of the Government, had failed.

The forces of the League at any time must be on such a footing as to ensure certain and immediate superiority against aggression, he believed.

The experiences of the past months had conclusively proved to the Government that collective security, in anything approaching that form, does not yet exist, he added.

Dealing with the general European situation, the Prime Minister said he regarded it as most important that Germany, France and Britain should work for peace in Europe side by side. They were hoping to bring the French and Germans and themselves into a conference for the better security of peace in Europe.

The view represented by Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, in his speech to the House, commanded the unanimous support of the Government. It was not necessarily an act of cowardice to take action known to be repugnant to a large section of the people, he said. In the present state of Europe, the Government was convinced that it had chosen the wiser of two courses and the one most conducive to peace.

Major Clement Attlee, Labour leader, expressed his strong dissatisfaction with Mr. Baldwin's speech and announced that he would move a vote of censure on Tuesday when the debate would be resumed. —Reuter.

MAJOR ATTLEE CRITICISES

Opposition To Move Vote Of Censure

BRITISH PRESTIGE LOWERED

London, June 19. An Opposition vote of censure will be moved in the House of Commons on Tuesday by Major Attlee, Leader of the Parliamentary Labour Party.

Major Attlee declares that the Government, through the lack of a resolute and straightforward foreign policy, has lowered the prestige of the British Empire, weakened the League of Nations, and imperilled the peace of the world. The Government, declares the Opposition leader, has therefore forfeited the confidence of the House.

Simultaneous with the announcement that the No-Confidence motion will be moved on Tuesday, the Parliamentary Labour Party has issued a manifesto to the Nation.

Headed "The Great Betrayal," the manifesto declares that the League of Nations, to which Britain is in honour and by deep conviction pledged, is now in grave danger.

It asserts that the Government is advocating a limitation of the functions of the League. "The adoption of such a disastrous policy will encourage the breaking of treaties and new acts of aggression," it states.

The Parliamentary group appeals for the goodwill of all men and women, and to churches and organisations to rally to the defence of collective security, peace and justice through the machinery of the League of Nations. —Reuter.

PRESS COMMENT ON DEBATE

Experiment Failure Of League

SURRENDER TO ITALY

London, June 19. Commenting on the sanctions debate, the "London Times" says that public opinion will rightly demand from the Government energetic and competent leadership to maintain the peace initiative and restrict the consequences of the present check to the League of Nations.

The debate, says "The Times," leaves the Ministers with an increased responsibility for constructive foreign policy.

The "Morning Post" declares that by the courageous decision to abandon the policy of sanctions the Government has regained the initiative and has gone far towards restoring the prestige of Great Britain following her abortive attempts to make the League workable.

The "Daily Telegraph" observes that Mr. Anthony Eden was himself the foremost in admitting the humiliation of the League's failure, but the moral he draws is that a bad debt, at most, has been written off and Britain must turn to work of rebuilding.

Mr. Greenwood, speaking in Opposition, and holding that the League should not be emasculated, but strengthened, reached the bedrock of truth, this paper says.

The "News Chronicle" calls the attitude of Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, and Mr. Eden "grovelling submission," and declares that nothing in the facts seems even to explain it.

The "Daily Herald" says that the words of Mr. Eden when Minister for League Affairs, "We shall not shrink" have now been converted into "We shall advise everybody to shrink."

There is worse than surrender to Signor Mussolini to come unless the Ministers go swiftly forward and realise the country does not share their desire to betray the League and dishonour Britain's name.

The "Daily Mail" predicts that the League will disappear in "odium and obloquy." —Reuter.

GENEVA SURPRISED

Geneva, June 19. The British Government's decision in respect of sanctions has caused consternation in League circles.

It is feared that British prestige will suffer a very severe blow. Anxiety is intensified here by the fear that the British decision portends a policy of reform of the League Covenant, and especially the diminution of British responsibilities under Article XVI. —Reuter.

Germany Approval. Berlin, June 19. The German press highly approves of the British Government's attitude with respect to sanctions, as set out by Mr. Anthony Eden, whom the papers praise as "master of the situation." —Reuter.

Canadian Support. Ottawa, June 19. Canada, like Australia, will support the cessation of sanctions, it was announced by the Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, in the House of Commons today. —Reuter.

TROUBLE SPREADS TO LITHUANIA

PROTEST STRIKE LEADS TO DISORDER

MARTIAL LAW AT CAPITAL

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special

Kovna, June 19. A state of alarm was declared in Kovna on Friday morning by the military authorities' decision being made known by posting placards all over the city. Nobody is allowed on the streets between 10 o'clock at night and 4 o'clock the next morning, during which time all traffic is suspended.

Contravention of the order involves a penalty of a fine of 5,000 lites or three months' imprisonment. Persons who resist the Police will be court-martialled. Most workers continue striking. —Transocean News Service.

POLICE RESTRICTED

Kovno, June 19. A general strike of 24 hours' duration was declared by workers here as a protest against the behaviour of the police at the funeral on Wednesday of a workman. This strike rapidly assumed the character of a revolt in the course of Thursday. The strikers erected barricades in the principal streets in the centre of the city, effectively preventing all traffic and offering bitter resistance to the strong police patrols which were sent to remove the obstructions.

After firing some volleys with blank cartridges and finally using tear-gas, the police were able to regain control of the situation. More than 400 strikers were arrested. —Transocean News Service.

MORE CRITICISM OF POLICY

Act Of Political Treachery

GOVERNMENT UNFIT TO CONTINUE

London, June 19. Mr. Arthur Greenwood, Labour front bench member moving a resolution of the Foreign Office estimates amid loud Opposition cheers declared that Mr. Eden's speech on the sanctions issue constituted a most deplorable admission. It meant he was trucking to a Dictator. Millions of people would hear it with shame and consternation.

The Government's foreign policy of the past five years, said Mr. Greenwood, was disastrous. Its present attitude was despicable. It was, he said bluntly, the biggest act of political treachery in the history of the country.

He attributed the astonishing and sudden conversion of the Government to the return of Sir Samuel Hoare, which was an insult to millions who had denounced the Hoare-Laval peace proposals.

Mr. Greenwood interpreted Mr. Neville Chamberlain's recent speech as meaning that the Government's policy included limitation of the powers of the League and reversion to regional pacts.

He concluded by calling on the Government to resign, and make way for those prepared to put their principles to the test.

LLOYD GEORGE'S ATTACK. Mr. David Lloyd George, for the Liberal Opposition, asserted that if

WORKERS NOT SATISFIED

Belgian Tension Increases

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special

Brussels, June 19. The tension in the labour conflict has increased rather than diminished since the workers declared that the concessions made to them by the Government and representatives of the employers, in the Agreement between representatives of the workers' and employers' organisations, were utterly insufficient.

As it is feared that the aggravation of the situation may lead to further serious consequences the Government has taken extensive precautionary measures, thus in Liege armoured cars are constantly patrolling the streets. The total number of strikers in Belgium is now roughly 279,000, and the district of Brussels is now likewise affected. In the suburbs of Ukkel and Vorst several factories have been occupied by strikers. One of Brussels's largest shoe factories has been closed by its owners. —Transocean News Service.

STRIKE SPREADING

Brussels, June 19. The strike generally is spreading and now extends to Brussels, where, it is stated, there are 20,000 people idle.

The total number of strikers in Belgium is now estimated at nearly 400,000.

Minor incidents continue to be reported, but the tension in the main centres has relaxed. The strikers' apparently assume that the Government is making a genuine effort to find a solution quickly. —Reuter.

SANCTIONS TO BE LIFTED

FRENCH DECISION

Paris, June 19. The Government has followed the British example and accepted the raising of sanctions. Instructions in this connection to French diplomatic representatives abroad were approved by the Council of Ministers this morning.

M. Delbos, Foreign Minister, stated that the Government was faithful to the principle of collective action and would associate itself with all decisions adopted by the League.

The Council then examined the "proper means for reinforcing the system of collective security" and decided to actively pursue its application. —Reuter.

The Government were going to Geneva to admit itself beaten and that the League had failed, and to do nothing more, it would be the end of the authority of the League.

The ranks of the League were still unbroken, he said, but Mr. Eden was going to Geneva to break them and smash the League.

It was at this stage that Mr. Eden interrupted to say that the new French Government had told him it was not prepared to take the initiative in raising sanctions. But, on the other hand, the French Government had never given him the least indication of their desire to maintain the present sanctions or promise of support of imposition of further sanctions. —Reuter.

IMPORTANT BOWLS GAME

Recreio To Be Tested

CHAMPIONS SHOULD WIN

(BY "SHORT HEAD")

A game of vital importance will be decided to-day when the Bowling Green meets the Recreio in the Senior Division Lawn Bowls League. The result of this match will have a strong bearing on the ultimate destination of the shield.

The Portuguese were given a shock by the Indians last week, and were it not for the fact that Dallah was not quite himself on that day, a sensational result would have been the case, as it was they were very fortunate in taking both points from the Indians by four shots.

The Open Championships are well under way and many were the close and interesting games played during the week with several unexpected results cropping up.

TO-DAY'S PROSPECTS

Many were the bowling enthusiasts who were surprised at the stubborn stand made by the Indians against the Recreio, and were it not for A.R. Dallah's rink (reputed to be the Indians' strongest) giving away a four on the last head, another sensational result would have been the ultimate ending.

The Recreio found themselves all square when Dallah's rink was playing the last head against F.X.M. da Silva's quartette. The score at this stage was 25 shots to 17 in favour of the Portuguese. Everything depended on whether Dallah and his men were able to garner a five or a four to tie or win, but somehow, the importance of the occasion reacted, very strongly on the Indians' skip and he allowed Silva to gather a four to decide the issue.

Curiously enough I was given to understand on good authority that the Portuguese took things for granted and when they found themselves well held by the Indians they got flustered. It was indeed very meritorious of the Indians in being able to inflict defeats on two of the three Portuguese rinks and to A.R. Minu and M.Y. Adal the bouquets were due. Nevertheless, although going down by four shots to perhaps the potential Champions, the Indians gave a creditable display and were in no way disgraced.

NO DESIRED EFFECT

In my review of the games last week, I specifically mentioned the fact that the replacement of W.V. Field by W.K. Way will in no way help to change the complexion of the C.C.C. "B" team, and in this respect I was correct. Going down to their green on Saturday I found Way playing a game that did not in the least do justice to a junior skip. He was not playing well, and his deliveries were invariably off the mark. What was worse his men did not even come off to scratch, with the result that his rink went down to Jones's rink by no less than 16 shots.

The winners' rink was playing better bowls than the losers and it must be said that Jones received better support from his men than Way.

Two of the three games were runaway affairs and the only game worth watching was that between W. Gill's four and J. Hollidge's men in which the C.C.C. "B" came out winner by a single shot. This game was replete with thrills and the score of 18 shots to 17 alone tells the tale. Gill was playing well as did A.M. Omar. Between these two the shots were laid and invariably these two managed to play a game that was to their own liking. Phelps was not quite at home against Burling while in M.N. Rakusen and J. Hollidge the C.C.C. men had all the keen competition they wanted.

In the other game Rosset played a real skip's game to win by 20 shots. His display was the acumen of perfection and although at the commencement of the game they were down by about four shots, Rosset and his men were able to overcome the deficit and to turn the tables on their opponents.

CHAMPIONS' OLD FORM

Playing something like their form of old, the champions inflicted an all round defeat on the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club by 23 shots. Strange as it may seem all three of the losers' rinks scored 17 shots apiece. There was very little of note in this game with perhaps Lapsley's rink playing a better game than the score would suggest. In this game Luz's four managed to score 22 shots against the losers' 17 while both Omar's four and Basa's quartette were able to notch 28 shots each.

Talkoo once again failed to make any headway in playing against the Police at home and they are at present lying at the bottom of the table with another Docks team—the Kowloon Docks—keeping them company. The "wooden spoonist" of the senior league will rest with these two teams at the rate they are going.

Wallace's rink scored a well deserved win over "Bill" Holland's four by six shots and in this game there was little to choose between the two rinks. Luck did certainly play a part in it anyway.

J. Shepherd's rink scored the biggest margin when they defeated J.C. Chalmers' four by 19 shots, while W. Mair's quartette was also responsible for a three shots' win over N. Drummond and his men.

BAD "JOSS" FOR K.C.C.

The Kowloon Bowling Green were very lucky to beat their neighbours by one shot on the K. C. C. Green. The match was in doubt right up to the last head which was played by Hyde-Lay's rink against that of Duncan's, K. C. C. wanted two to tie and three to win. Goodwin, who was playing three to Hyde-Lay, drew in perfectly to take the jack through to four shots. His opposite number with his wood came in to save but was a bit narrow and heavy and had the fortune to knock up one of their own short woods for the second shot. Hyde-Lay spent both his woods trying to take this shot out but just failed on each occasion, thereby leaving the Bowling Green victor by that one shot. Hyde-Lay's rink played very good bowls, especially the skip who has not bowled between this season. Goodwin was also responsible for some nice shots.

Phillips' rink went down to Holland's rink by the large margin of 14 shots. Phillips and his men were badly off form. Holland's men played consistent bowls. Fraser maintained his unbeaten record as skip by beating a strong rink skipped by Guy Fraser and his team played excellently and outpowered their opponents. Guy and Watson played badly for the Bowling Green. No doubt the cause being a heavy green. Altogether a very good game was witnessed with the luck slightly against the K. C. C.

The Open Championships

Steady progress is being maintained in the open championships during the week, in the course of which several interesting and unexpected results cropped up.

The Omar brothers, rated as being one of the strongest contenders for the pairs championship went down fighting by a single shot to the K.C.C. pair, N.J. Bebbington and A. Hyde-Lay. In this game Hyde-Lay's wizardry was much in evidence and although A.M. Omar more than held his own against Bebbington, U.M. Omar struck a bad patch and was unable to counteract the deliveries of Hyde-Lay's. The score was 17 shots to 16.

Another close game was witnessed when C.J. Tacchi and R. Basa defeated J. Hollidge and P. Knight by 17 shots to 16, while A.E. Coates and J. Cavanagh (C.C.C.) one of the strongest pairs entered had an easy task against S.M. Rumjahn and A.M. Wahab winning by 33 shots to 8.

L. J. Silva and H.A. Alves (Recreio) lost to A.W. Grimmit and C. Strange by 20 shots to 19. The Recreio pair had bad luck when they struck a bad patch towards the close and it was the work of Grimmit that pulled the game through for the winners.

TO-DAY'S GAMES

The Indians will be very much encouraged by their good showing of last week when they met Talkoo to-day. Indications show that they should be able to garner the two points at the expense of the Dockers. By the several changes which the Indians have made in their team, a great improvement was noticeable, and the return of Dallah to their fold should stimulate success.

Talkoo are playing only mediocre bowls these days. At present they have played four games without any success, and although they have several seasoned and experienced bowlers in their team their prowess in the game left plenty to be desired. Unless some sort of drastic improvement is forthcoming they will yet lose another two points.

Another team at the bottom of the table is the Kowloon Docks. They are pitted against the Police to-day and I do not see how they will be able to effect a victory judging from their past performances. The only skip of note in their team in J.V. Ramsay and although this skip plays up well at all times, lack of co-operation and team work nullified most of his efforts.

The guardians of the law have improved by leap and bound in the last few games. Their changes too have wrought improvement in the team and with all three skip: 1) the persons of W.E. Hollands, J. Shepherd and W. Mair playing as well as ever there is every indication of them claiming yet another victory.

TIT-BIT OF THE DAY

What ought to be the tit-bit of the day will be provided in the Kowloon Bowling Green-Recreio clash in which the result will play a big part in the ultimate destination of the senior honours. Recreio are two points ahead of their rivals with the same number of games played. These two teams are very well matched and the respective skips are in excellent form at the present moment. Whichever way the result goes it will be a very close one with the odds slightly in favour of the Portuguese boys.

W.K. Way's replacement of Field as skip in the C.C.C. "B" team did not help matters much as far as that rink is concerned. I was watching their game against the C.S.C.C. last Saturday and Way's display did not in the least impress me. Though changes are undoubtedly necessary in the team, that move made by the Lawn Bowls sub-committee was an unwise one.

The two Craigsower's teams are to clash to-day and the result is a foregone conclusion. A. el Arculli is on the sick list and D. Rumjahn is brought to play in his place with L.C.R. Souza coming in as No. 10. In the "B" team Modi has dropped out and M. A. R. Souza is taking over his place as No. 3 to Rosset. The "A" team should win comfortably.

The K. C. C. have made numerous changes in their team for to-day against the C. S. C. C. Silkstone has gone to skip in the second Division whilst Overly has been promoted to take his place. Phillips has gone two to Hyde-Lay in place of Craig who plays three to Bebbington who has taken over Phillips' rink. Hyde-Lay also comes back into the team in place of Ferguson. It will be interesting to see how the reshuffling will pan out. Silkstone, in my opinion, is much too good a bowler for the second Division, and should be given a chance at three in the senior Division.

The following are some of the probable line-ups:—

THE H. K. R. A. BULLETIN

Prize Meeting Covered

We have received a copy of the current issue of the Journal of the Hong Kong Rifle Association, the H.K.R.A. "Bulletin," which is a production of over fifty pages including nine pages of photograph reproduced on art paper.

The issue takes the form of the Official Prize Lists of the events shot for at the recent Prize Meeting, and also includes a full and detailed account of the Meeting, a reproduction of the speeches made at the Official Luncheon of May 4 as well as a page of statistics dealing with the number of entries received for and the value of prizes awarded at the Meeting in question.

In addition the names of spoon winners for the period 1/3/36 to 1/5/36 appear on the last page. It is of interest to note that the present issue is nearly twice the size of the Journal of the National Rifle Association at home, although the latter has been produced in some years, while the issue of the "Bulletin" under review is the sixth number published.

We understand that another issue is now on the way in which the results of the various competitions will be analysed in detail, while an article will also appear showing how the classification to be brought into use for the "Bisley" portion of the Meeting in 1937, is likely to affect the competitors who took part in the 1936 Meeting, and who may be selected to do so in 1937.

Other articles included the Handicap Tables for both the S. R. (a) and S. R. (b) rifles, a list

LAWN BOWLS INTERPORT

Discussion At Meeting

At a meeting of the Hong Kong Lawn Bowls Association the Interport with Shanghai was discussed. Mr. C. B. Hosking (Hon. Sec.) said he had received a private letter from Shanghai stating that September or October would be a very bad time to send a team up. The meeting agreed that Mr. Hosking should write the Club honorary secretaries to the effect that it is proposed to send a team North either in August or September and ask for names of players who would be able to make the trip on either one of those dates. HONG KONG RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Mid-Week Spoon And Practice Shoot

The usual mid-week Spoon and Practice Shoot took place on Wednesday afternoon on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City, when in spite of the heat, nearly forty members attended.

The high temperature, "glare," coupled with a fluctuating wind brought scores down considerably, and it is obvious that many members require considerable practice on a really hot and bright day, if they are to become really efficient all-round shots. In this connection it must not be forgotten that it is seldom that the Imperial Meeting at Bisley passes without two or more days having a shade temperature of well over 90 degrees (F) and although the humidity at home is negligible to that experienced in this Colony, glare and mirage, as well as haze, have all to be contended with on the ranges on Bisley Common.

The leading scores made on Wednesday afternoon are given in detail below.

The Hong Kong Broadcasting Committee has informed the Association that it is making arrangements for the broadcast of the final shoot for H.M. the King's Prize, which takes place on Saturday, July 18, to be relayed from the local station from approximately 10.30 p.m. (local time) onwards until the broadcast has concluded.

Those members of the Colony who saw the final of the shoot for H.E. the Governor's Prize at the recent Prize Meeting here, will doubtless look forward to the prospect of hearing the final of the premier rifle-shooting event in the world and in particular to listen to the band playing "See the conquering hero comes" as the winner is chaired from the 1,000 yard firing point to the N.R.A. Offices.
